A World Record Set Here in Costa Rica

We've seen the advertisements. We've heard the talk around here. We waited until the time was finally here. And then it arrived, the world record was to be set for the biggest fish taco, here at Bubba's Fish Taco joint. We have been heavily anticipating this moment. I packed the kids in our new "red freedom" wagon and headed on our hot, mile walk to see this awaited moment.

I'll just say we were highly disappointed. All they did was lay out the tortilla's side by side. Aren't they supposed to make a HUGE tortilla???? Oh well. I thought about doing my own advertisements and beating Bubba's {lame} Taco by 1 inch; making a taco 30 feet and 1 inch. But then, who am I to make enemies here? I certainly don't want any.

I do have to say that it was for a good cause. He was raising money for a reef ball to help save the ocean. Way to go Bubba.

That is what Aiden thought of the taco setting record. He got his chair and sat facing the street.

This is a shot of our new "red freedom". Aiden got this for his birthday and my favorite feature is the seat belt that neither him nor Landon can undo.

The last shot here is of the news report being done of the owner. The reporter was also the camera guy {holding a regular family camcorder}. Let's talk about multi-tasking!! I tried my best not to giggle.

Pure Life with the WB FamCOSTA RICA BABY!

Hello: My name is Shawna. I have one sweetheart and five munchkins. Photography is my other passion. I love life, children, good friends and tender mercies. My honey and I are crossing off an item on our "bucket list" as we venture through life here in Costa Rica {where he served a church mission 13 years earlier}. It's beautiful, ugly, relaxing and tough. But we love it.
